

Z 996
G3
A3

UC-NRLF

QB 325 392

THE BOOK PLATES OF EDMUND H. GARRETT

YD66650

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2007 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

1880
1881
1882
1883
1884
1885
1886
1887
1888
1889
1890
1891
1892
1893
1894
1895
1896
1897
1898
1899
1900

Handwritten text, possibly a name or address, written in cursive script. The text is mirrored and appears to be bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

Edmund H. Garrett.

Book-plates
selected from the works of ❖ Edmund H. Garrett ❖
& a notice of them by William Howe ❖ Downes ❖

The Crafts-dale Press
Boston A. M. C. M. IIII

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

2996 62A3 LIBRARY SCHOOL

एन.बी.ट्रस्ट इंडिया
बुक-ट्रस्ट-ऑफ-इंडिया
* नवरात्रि-संस्मरण-संख्या *
प्रकाशित-विशेष-संख्या
बुकिंग-मालिका
* १९५५-५६ *

५० पानों
आमंत्रणिका

एन.बी.ट्रस्ट इंडिया लि.
१९५५-५६

EX LIBRIS
HIRAM EDMUND DEATS

EDMUND - H - GARRETT

"Book-plates have been steadily multiplying and their use becoming more and more general, until to-day not to own a book-plate with which to mark your books is to argue yourself quite out of the trend of culture and education."

Zella Allen Dixon. "Concerning Book-plates."

MR. GARRETT is the author of about fifty book-plates, the examples here shown being among the best and most characteristic. His experience as designer, illustrator, engraver and painter, combined with his native endowment of taste, inventiveness and fancy, admirably equips him for this kind of artistic work. The designing of a book-plate calls for a high order of decorative talent. There is room for a great deal of the personal element, of course, but restraint and sobriety, with a clear comprehension of the limitations of conventional decoration on a small scale, are imperatively required for success in this field. The fundamental principles that govern all decoration apply with even more than ordinary force here, because the infringement of them must be especially noticeable in a small design. Unity, compactness, and a fair balance of the black and white spaces are undoubtably the first requirements. To meet these requirements fully, the designer ought not to be encumbered with too much symbolic material, but should be permitted to give a reasonable degree of free play to his own ideas. Every owner of a good library is likely to be fortunate in the possession of a hobby, and when the desire to have a book-plate arises, it is natural and fitting to ask the designer to perpetuate that hobby by some appropriate bit of symbolism. But when it comes to more than one hobby, when Pelion is piled on Ossa, the oversupply of raw material becomes merely an embarrassment to the artist, and threatens the integrity of his design. An ingenious designer is usually able, it is true, to work a certain number of not too salient allegories into the corners, borders, and nooks of his design, without laying too much stress upon them; but the whole drawing must, if it is to be first-rate, be built up around a single, unified, central motive, to which all the rest of the work must be subordinate. Above all, the first-rate book-plate must, with few exceptions, be conceived upon conventional lines; and it is obvious that heraldry lends itself most readily and naturally to this class of design.

Ex Libris

George M. Chornton

Among the best of Mr. Garrett's book-plates in which armorial bearings are employed as the chief features of the designs are those of Dr. John W. Farlow, Arthur Curtis Judd, J. Otis Wardwell, William Phillips, Dr. William M. Conant, and George M. Thornton. These are the best American book-plates with which I am acquainted, by virtue of the excellence of their design, the perfect adaptation to their purpose, and the distinct beauty of their execution in all its parts. They are etched plates, in which the intrinsic quality of the line is one of the most conspicuous elements of merit. It is not easy to explain the superiority of the etched line over the graver-cut line; but it is very easy to see it, when opportunities for comparison arise. The bitten line has infinitely more character, flexibility and variety; it has more life and color; it is in every way a more artistic and expressive medium. Mr. Garrett's style, as exemplified in his book-plates, is remarkable for its delicacy, precision, and certainty of touch. The quality of daintiness could go no further. Yet it is not tainted by mere prettiness, because there is firmness of technique, severity of motive, and a nice application of means to the end.

Besides the book-plates in which armorial bearings are used as the leading motive of the design, it will be noticed that Mr. Garrett has occasionally employed subjects of a naturalistic order, as in the example where a pleasing glimpse of the owner's veranda appears in the centre of the plate. This pictorial theme is tactfully treated, but as a general rule such motives are far less amenable to successful decorative employment than strictly conventional designs. It will be remarked, undoubtedly, that Mr. Garrett's borders are of especial ingenuity and beauty, and that they play an important part. Such a border as that in the Belmont Library book-plate, for example, taken in conjunction with a good arrangement of the inscription, which is an organic portion of the decorative scheme, seems to be in and of itself a sufficient,

1870
1871
1872
1873
1874
1875
1876
1877
1878
1879
1880
1881
1882
1883
1884
1885
1886
1887
1888
1889
1890
1891
1892
1893
1894
1895
1896
1897
1898
1899
1900

1870
1871
1872
1873
1874
1875
1876
1877
1878
1879
1880
1881
1882
1883
1884
1885
1886
1887
1888
1889
1890
1891
1892
1893
1894
1895
1896
1897
1898
1899
1900

EX·LIBRIS
GEORGE·A·FERNALD

RUPKIND & COMPANY, 101 N. 3rd St., PHILA.

dignified and satisfactory piece of decoration. For a public institution it is especially appropriate because a little more than the ordinary degree of severity is desirable in such cases. And, since we have spoken of the inscription, it is proper to add that the lettering, a vital point, is one of the strong features of superiority in nearly all Mr. Garrett's plates. The slightest error of scale, the slightest slip in the placing of the inscription, and, of course the least lack of style in the lettering, in the relationship it has to the rest of the design, is enough to ruin, and as a matter of fact has ruined, many an otherwise excellent book-plate. But Mr. Garrett whose title pages are works of art, and whose bibliophilic taste amounts to genius, is incapable of making any such mistakes; his instinct for the right proportions, the right spacing, the right style of letter, and the first-rate execution of this part of his work, is infallible. For the severe class of book-plates, the Roman capital letter, — surely, nothing better will ever be invented, — but the scale and the placing of it is an art in itself; and for the freer, more intimate, more personal class of designs, the various modifications of the black-letter, or the quaint, flowing, intricate pattern of script capitals, interlocked, like a vine, with a touch of vagrant fantasy, exhaling a breath of the days of Friendship's Offering, when Byron wrote and Turner painted.

In those examples which are, from the decorative point of view, the least interesting, I think it will be found that there is much originality and ingenuity, as well as much workmanship of a high order of excellence; and the regards in which they fall short of the best standards are, I venture to say, largely due to the unreasonable requirements of the clients themselves, who, as is the way of clients, consider themselves competent judges in certain technical matters where a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. A near parallel to this condition is to be found in portrait painting, a line of work which, except in the cases of those artists who can afford to be autocrats, is little short of penal servitude, or a state of vassalage. When will it be realized that utter freedom is the first condition of artistic productivity, and that there is nothing worth utterance but a man's own thought?

In comparing Mr. Garrett's really representative work in this line with that of other artists, I have been struck more by his refinement of taste

UNIV. OF CALIFORNIA

1917
1918
1919
1920
1921
1922
1923
1924
1925
1926
1927
1928
1929
1930
1931
1932
1933
1934
1935
1936
1937
1938
1939
1940
1941
1942
1943
1944
1945 1946
1947
1948
1949
1950
1951
1952
1953
1954
1955
1956
1957
1958
1959
1960
1961
1962
1963
1964
1965
1966
1967
1968
1969
1970
1971
1972
1973
1974
1975
1976
1977
1978
1979
1980
1981
1982
1983
1984
1985
1986 1987
1988
1989
1990
1991
1992
1993
1994
1995
1996
1997
1998
1999
2000
2001
2002
2003
2004
2005
2006
2007
2008
2009
2010
2011
2012
2013
2014
2015
2016
2017
2018
2019 2020
2021
2022
2023
2024 2025
2026
2027
2028
2029
2030
2031
2032
2033
2034
2035
2036
2037
2038
2039
2040 2041
2042
2043
2044
2045
2046
2047
2048
2049
2050
2051
2052
2053
2054
2055
2056
2057
2058
2059
2060 2061
2062
2063
2064
2065
2066 2067
2068
2069
2070
2071
2072
2073
2074
2075
2076
2077
2078
2079
2080 2081
2082
2083
2084
2085
2086
2087
2088
2089
2090
2091
2092
2093
2094
2095
2096 2097
2098
2099
2100 than any other quality, though I do not hesitate to say that he stands almost alone also in respect of design and workmanship. When he has a free field for the exercise of his taste, inventiveness, and fancy, there is no one like him.

1870
The first of the year was a very dry one and the crops were very poor. The winter was also very dry and the crops were very poor. The spring
was also very dry
and the crops were very poor. The summer was also very dry and the crops were very poor. The autumn
was also very dry
and the crops were very poor. The winter was also very dry and the crops were very poor. The spring
was also very dry
and the crops were very poor. The summer was also very dry and the crops were very poor. The autumn
was also very dry
and the crops were very poor. The winter was also very dry and the crops were very poor.

A CHECK-LIST OF MR. GARRETT'S
BOOK-PLATES.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO
LIBRARY
1100 EAST 58TH STREET
CHICAGO, ILL. 60637

1975

107

A NUMBERED LIST OF MR. GARRETT'S BOOK-PLATES FROM 1893 TO 1904.

The following numbers do not agree with the numbers on the book-plates themselves for the latter refer to all etchings, book illustrations as well as book-plates, executed by Mr. Garrett since 1892.

Almost all his book-plates it will be noticed have been etched on copper by himself; two were etched by W. H. W. Bicknell and one engraved by E. D. French. The photogravure, photo lithography, and the zinc etching process have been used in some instances, and two examples are the work of other designers. Although these plates which are not wholly the work of Mr. Garrett must be of much less interest they are here, for the convenience of collectors, included in the list with the plates entirely of his own workmanship. The list has been submitted to Mr. Garrett and is the only correct one in print.

1893

- | | | |
|---|---|------------------------------------|
| 1 | Francis Wilson. | Etched by W. H. W. Bicknell |
| 2 | Francis Wilson. | Zinc etching |
| 3 | Paul Lemperly. | Zinc etching |
| | There are two sizes of this plate. | |
| 4 | Joseph H. Wheeler. | Zinc Etching |
| 5 | Charles Dexter Allen. | Etched by W. H. W. Bicknell |
| | There is a small photogravure of this plate, first used on the title page of "American Book-Plates." | |

1894

- 6 Edmund H. Garrett. Etched
7 Edmund H. Garrett. Etched
8 Joseph H. Wheeler. Same as No. 4. Etched
9 The University Club. Etched
Also exists with the date MDCCCXCII and a variation in the border.

1895

- 10 Hiram Edmund Deats. Etched
11 Frederick W. French. Etched
12 Florence Sylva Wheeler. Etched

1896

- 13 Mary E. Norcross. Etched
14 Alfred Gooding. Photogravure
15 Frank Gair Macomber. Etched from an old tapestry
A few prints with the arms differently disposed.
16 Edwin Ruthven Lamson. 6 Beacon Street Boston 156 Fifth Avenue New York 1896. Engraved by E. D. French
There is also a copy of this plate with the inscription, A Catalogue of Books Published by Lamson Wolfe and Company Boston New York and London 1896.

1897

- 17 Henry A. Sherwin. Etched
18 Joseph Huntress Wheeler. Old plate altered
19 Wm. M. Conant M. D. Etched
20 C. Williams Jr. Etched

EDMUND H GARRETT CP-58 M CMIII

1898

- 21 De Witt Miller. Etched
22 John Sewall Alcott Pratt. Etched
23 Frank Lysacht Dunne. Etched
Some prints with name Lysart.

1899

- 24 William Phillips. Etched
25 J. Otis Wardwell. Etched
26 Eliza Atkins Stone. Zinc etching
27 M. Westall Pettee. Designed by Miss F. M. Pettee Etched

1900

- 28 Harvard University. Thompson Collection. Etched
29 Harvard University. Riant Collection. Etched

Three variants of this plate as follows:

- a. Bought with income of the Henry L. Pierce Fund.
b. Gift of John Harvey Treat of Lawrence.
One proof Lowell instead of Lawrence.
c. Divinity Library, Gift of the Society for Promoting Theological education.
One proof with Theological wrongly spelled.

- 30 Arthur Curtis Judd. Etched
31 John Fiske. Etched
A variety with variation in the motto.
32 John W. Farlow M. D. Etched
33 Weston Public Library. Etched
Also photo-lithograph of above.

1901

- | | | |
|----|-------------------------|------------------|
| 34 | George M. Thornton. | Etched |
| 35 | Elizabeth Cheney. | Etched |
| 36 | Leslie E. Kiley. | Zinc etching |
| 37 | Josiah Stearns Cushing. | Photogravure |
| 38 | Bowdoin College. | Photo-lithograph |

1902

- | | | |
|----|---|------------------|
| 39 | Edwin Scott and Edith Henry Barbour. | Photogravure |
| 40 | Lowell Public Library. | Photo lithograph |
| 41 | Elizabeth S. Cheney. | Etched |
| 42 | Belmont Public Library.
Also photo-lithograph of above. | Etched |
| 43 | Derby Public Library.
Also photo-lithograph of above.
Five small donor plates for the same, all etched. | Etched |
| 44 | a. George C. Allis | |
| 45 | b. Dr. Charles C. Baldwin. | |
| 46 | c. John W. Peck. | |
| 47 | d. Sarah Riggs Humphrey Chapter D. A. R. | |
| 48 | e. Reading Circle Library East Derby, Connecticut. | |

1903

- | | | |
|----|--|--------|
| 49 | C. C. Clapp. | Etched |
| 50 | Thomas W. Lawson. | Etched |
| 51 | Dalton.
The same altered. | Etched |
| 52 | Robert Fletcher Allen. Memorial Plate. | Etched |

1911
1912
1913
1914
1915
1916
1917
1918
1919
1920
1921
1922
1923
1924
1925
1926
1927
1928
1929
1930
1931
1932
1933
1934
1935
1936
1937
1938
1939
1940
1941
1942
1943
1944
1945 1946
1947
1948
1949
1950
1951
1952
1953
1954
1955
1956
1957
1958
1959
1960
1961
1962
1963
1964
1965
1966
1967
1968
1969
1970
1971
1972
1973
1974
1975
1976
1977
1978
1979
1980
1981
1982
1983
1984
1985
1986
1987
1988
1989
1990
1991
1992
1993
1994
1995
1996
1997
1998
1999
2000
2001
2002
2003
2004
2005
2006
2007
2008
2009
2010
2011
2012
2013
2014
2015
2016
2017
2018
2019 2020
2021
2022
2023
2024 2025

Let me love the insides of books with Doctor Johnson and have respect unto their outsides with David Garrick.

DECITT MILLER

- 53 Mary Cheney Davis. Etched
54 Mary Leroy King. Des. by Miss L. H. Sturtevant. Etched
55 William Hall Walker. Etched
56 George A. Fernald. Etched
- 1904
- 57 Gustave P. Wiksell. Etched

TO THE VOLKMANN SCHOOL IN MEMORY OF ROBERT FLETCHER
ALLEN

* 1892 — 1903 *

UNIV. OF CALIFORNIA

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

LIBRARY OF CALIFORNIA

